

Scams & Fraud - Education Programs

Sadly, financial exploitation is growing. Education is the best way to prevent it from happening to older adults. Whether we have never presented to your organization or visit every year, the Lifespan Scams & Frauds team has something new for you. Below are the programs we are currently teaching. We will travel to you. Start with our Scams 101, then invite us back for more fun & games! While scams are constantly evolving, some things never change -- thanks to our funders, these programs are FREE! Reach out today - 585-244-8400.

Scams 101

The basics. We recommend this for the first presentation. We cover terms and common scams. Great for any size audience. A perfect opportunity for questions and open discussions on financial exploitation of all kinds.

Name that Scam

Played like "Name that Tune", we play music from the '50s, '60s & '70s and connect it to a scam. Guessing the song, artist & year, makes it fun and helps people retain the information. We have multiple play lists - the newest is all hits from Motown!

Family Fraud

Similar to "Family Feud", the group is split into teams to guess common answers to questions. Healthy competition and teamwork reinforce what to do and not do when faced with a possible scam.

SCAMO

Our newest addition! A game similar to BINGO in which participant's knowledge of scams & fraud is tested. Definitions are read & answers called out. Cover five spaces in a row and shout "SCAMO"!

Our Team "Let us meet you where you are."

Tracey Siebert-Konopko

Dan Lyon

Justin McCabe

Sheila Brewer-Montero

A regional nonprofit providing information, guidance & service for older adults & caregivers